PROFILE

Self-motivated, hard-working, inquisitive technology consultant with full stack development capabilities currently residing in central Pennsylvania. Always enjoying the uphill challenges as it strengthens my ability to transition into new skills, talents, and experiences.

I am a Marine Corps veteran and former squad leader, with two deployments to Iraq. This journey through life has given me opportunity, perspective, and a resilient attitude.

My ability to learn quickly and adapt, on top of having an excellent combination of people, technical, and analytical skills, instills confidence in others and allows me to deliver success.
